

North Chickamauga Trail Segment of Cumberland Trail

You are REQUIRED to register to camp and/or park after sunset at the trailheads. See below for details.

Overview:

As of April 2011 there is 7.23 miles of North Chickamauga Trail segment open. Trail begins at North Chickamauga trailhead on Montlake Road in Soddy Daisy and ends near Barker Camp Road a short distance from Cain Creek.

Once completed, the Cain Creek end of this trail will eventually connect with the Tennessee River Gorge segment on Signal Mountain and the trail along Montlake Road will join the Soddy Gorge segment.

Much of the trail between Montlake Road trailhead and the cable crossing utilizes old coal mining roads. Trail between cable crossing and Stevenson Branch Campsite is rugged and not built to Cumberland Trail specifications. The 3.1 miles beyond Stevenson Branch Campsite was built by Cumberland Trail Conference in 2009, 2010, and 2011 and is an extremely nice stretch of high quality trail.

A hike from trailhead kiosk around Hogskin Loop and back to kiosk is 1.4 miles.

Road Approaches and Parking:

Parking available at the North Chickamauga trailhead on Montlake Road in Soddy Daisy. Take Highway US-27 to Soddy-Daisy, exit at Thrasher Pike and turn west, go about one mile to Dayton Pike, turn right, and proceed a mile to Montlake Road. Turn left on Montlake Road and proceed 1.5 miles to the entrance on left. See map below.

Campsites:

There is only one designated and authorized campsite on this section of trail and that is Stevenson Branch Campsite located on North Chickamauga Creek between the confluence of Cooper Creek and the confluence of Stevenson Branch.
